Along the Trail

By J. B. YULE

THE BRIGHT LIGHTS

Well, I have returned from seeing the bright lights. For some time I planned to visit the Capital City, so a week ago Tuesday I put my resolve into action. It was three years and a half since I had seen a great white way. Going out I wondered just what I would do or how I would act in a strange city. For the first time in many months, I tried to recall the proper procedure to get by as an old man pushed on towards the Capital City.

Finally the train man shouted "Edmonton is in front of you." I stepped myself on the platform of the Canadian National station, a no man structure, and was soon out on the street.

And, strange as it may seem when the first street we did come into, the experience of many former years was not so much a surprise as it was a relief. I wondered how I got by nicely, with a message of love and peace to the elevator service in the various buildings. This I am glad to say, came natural and I called my floor with a firmness of voice which surprised myself.

I found many new lights had appeared since my last visit, mostly of the "glitter" kind. I would think responsible believe in the eternal fitness of things and I am glad to say, in general conditions, things were better.

A visit to the Parliament buildings was most interesting. I saw many things, however, one disappointment, and that was due to the fact that the Premier was busy on the coast. I was interviewed, but not by the Premier. In fact, Mr. Abernethy was just about the only man I saw who was in the various appointments.

On returning to downtown I visited the Department of Municipalities, Mines and Lands. Here I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. J. H. McCreary and Jim Hamilton, both formerly of Grande Prairie. Fitz is in charge of the Tax Commission, and Hamilton is in the Mining Department. Both entrusted the writer with a message of love and peace to their Grande Prairie and district friends.

Learning that Duncan Stewart was still in the University Hospital, I paid the institution a visit. He was recovering himself as being hopeful that he would soon be able to leave the hospital and travel.

East-End Distinguished Himself
While the "East-End" was in the soldiers' ward, where, among many others, Tom Rice, formerly of the East End, was being suffered as the result of being severely burnt about the face and chest.

Tom, who was at Goldfields, Saskatchewan, entered a tent in which a woman and three children were sleeping. The woman was in the act of filling a gas lighter lamp when the flames from the lamp ignited the tent. There was no time to lose, so Rice grabbed the burning gas and started for the door of the tent. He was so close to the door that he was unable to get out. The flames of the tent hit the can, splashing the contents against his face and chest, setting his coat and sweater on fire. With great difficulty he managed to get the garments off, but not before he was badly burned. He was taken to Edmonton by "Wop" Fitz in the latter's plane. At the time of the visit Tom was about ready to leave the hospital and intends to return to Goldfields as soon as possible.

By the daring deed the mother and children, he would undoubtedly have been burned to death, were it not for the intervention of "Wop" Fitz.

Others from the East-End in the soldiers' ward were W. A. Morrison of Spirit River, Steve, Walter, Gilbert of Hilda, Arthur, Arthur, of Valhalla, and J. Hill of Brainerd.

It is said that there seldom is a time when some returned soldiers from the Peace River are not in this hospital.

Malcolm Campbell Returns From The North

While in Edmonton I had the pleasure of meeting some of my old friends. Malcolm Campbell, formerly of Grande Prairie, who is staying at the Royal George Hotel for the winter. When spring comes he will again answer the call of the mining field, as a very interesting description of the field which has been obtaining a number of years ago. To illustrate the richness of the radium ore he pointed out that one shipment was valued at a million dollars.

Last spring he left Grand Bear Lake and prospecting for the balance of the season in the Fort River country. Here he struck several good gold veins. He informed the writer that the Grand Bear gold belt, which is geologically, contains 2,000 square miles, 30% of which is gold-bearing. Jim McDonald, formerly of Grande Prairie, who is now in the Peace River country, is another interesting person met. Jim had been in the gold fields all summer and has such faith in them that he is going back in the spring with his own outfit.

Visit to Government Factory
Another interesting feature of the trip was a visit to the plant of the Northwestern Manufacturers, makers of auto, machine and sport equipment.

The writer was taken in tow by Mr. McLeod, the manager, and shown over the plant. It was my first visit to an establishment of this kind and the various processes proved most interesting. Here were machines, almost human, operated by trained hands.

The manager stated that there had been no lay-offs and as business and orders looked, there would be none. I was shown through a 4-way case again struck with the advancement of machinery, and tried to figure just how long it would take to do the same amount of work by the old hand method.

Another former Grande Prairie man, in Edmonton was Archie Boyd, now living at Crestview, who was attending an "auctioneers" convention. Archie wished to be connected to all his old friends.

As I was strolling along Edmonton's "Red" McCune, formerly of the staff of the Grande Prairie branch of the Bank of Montreal, "Red" who recently emerged alive from a severe operation, was seen. He was in the last Monday morning. Notwithstanding his operation, "Red" still retained his old healthy "red" color.

I was taking in Eaton's big store and when on the main floor I met Rev. H. Simpson, formerly of the Peace River, who was attending a meeting of the Presbyterian. Mr. Simpson is still keenly interested in the Peace River country and was asking many questions about things and people.

I had the good fortune to meet Justin Rigby and Arthur Mackey, who won out in the junior provincial grail judging competition held in Edmonton. Since then boys further down the Peace River have been public eye by winning the Dominion honors in grail judging at Toronto.

The boys, who were about to take the train for Toronto, were just about the only ones who could wish to meet. And why not?

They were about to enter upon a new experience. They were in the country in the East where there are considerably different to that in the West. They were to see Toronto, the second city in Canada, with its skyscrapers and all the development of a great modern city. And above all, they were to see the greatest competition of their lives. No wonder they were happy and optimistic.

"Hot Men"
Radio fans who had the recent broadcasts of the Grail games were sponsored by Tom Campbell of the Peace River, who was in the interview could not be arranged. In fact, Mr. Abernethy was just about the only man I saw who was in the various appointments.

On returning to downtown I visited the Department of Municipalities, Mines and Lands. Here I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. J. H. McCreary and Jim Hamilton, both formerly of Grande Prairie. Fitz is in charge of the Tax Commission, and Hamilton is in the Mining Department. Both entrusted the writer with a message of love and peace to their Grande Prairie and district friends.

Learning that Duncan Stewart was still in the University Hospital, I paid the institution a visit. He was recovering himself as being hopeful that he would soon be able to leave the hospital and travel.

The Empire Barber Shop
On the morning following my arrival in Edmonton, I visited the Empire Barber Shop, conducted by "Scotty" Herron and his two partners, who cooperate with the same manner as the Tribune staff.

While the reception was most friendly, the general atmosphere was a bit gloomy and there was a good reason for this. On the previous day, Labor received a horrible loss at the municipal polls, and as the morning sun shined on the faces of the men, it was only natural that they felt a bit low. A defeat on the political field usually has the effect of pushing spirits into the lower levels.

It should be explained that the barber shop has been for years the rendezvous of politicians and all those seeking an argument. Here for years have met and got an ear full of the political tendencies of the time. To realize that one's political party has been almost temporarily wiped out is a bitter pill to swallow. To my old friends let me say: "Do not be discouraged for truth, though crushed to the ground, will rise again."

Jim Fletcher, formerly of Grande Prairie and Wembley was another man from the North I met. Jim is running a garage in the heart of the city and is getting a fair share of the business.

The Great Duke Keats
Every hockey fan has heard of the great Duke Keats. He was the privilege of chatting with this hockey star, who in his hey-day was one of the finest players who ever took to the ice. Duke, in discussing hockey, told me many interesting stories, and with the least amount of exertion.

The Duke realizes he is through playing hockey. He has played for years "Old Father Time has just beat me," was the Duke put it.

I met many old friends whom I had known since the early days of the "Northern Empire" years ago. The majority of them were in the Peace River area. I saw that old Father Time was showing signs that he was getting on. He was thinner, but he was still engaged in useful occupation. This was the Duke's "A."

to the thought which stands out uppermost in my mind. This is the great Duke Keats, who is now in the Peace River area.

The Peace River Valley

(This charming piece of poetry was written by Doreen Mildred Christie of McLennan, Alberta. She is 11 years old.)

There is not in the wide world a valley as sweet
As that vale in her bosom the bright water meet;
Two not the soft music of streamlet or bird,
O the last rays of fading life most dear;
The bloom from that valley shall fade from my heart.

Yet it was not that nature had shed o'er the scene
Her purer of crystal and brightness of green;
No! it was that the valley was so sweet,
O the last rays of fading life most dear;
The bloom from that valley shall fade from my heart.

When we see dear friends, the beloved of my bosom were near,
Who make each dear scene of enchantment more dear,
O the last rays of fading life most dear;
The bloom from that valley shall fade from my heart.

Sweet vale of Peace River, how calm could I rest
In the bosom of shade with the friends I love best,
Where the storms that we feel in this cold world should cease,
O the last rays of fading life most dear;
The bloom from that valley shall fade from my heart.

Timely Hints From the Beaverlodge Sub-Station

By
W. D. Albright
"IT IS A PLEASURE AS WELL AS A DUTY TO SERVE"

Penned on the road between long drives to speaking appointments, this instalment of Timely Hints will be judiciously brief.

In severe climates a north or west stable door is a source of discomfort. Better a little inconvenience in cleaning out than a cold draught through the stable.

"Cow-paste" is not a very elegant filling for the chinks of long-stable walls, but is serviceable when nothing else is at hand. An old trowel or flint in the stable is a convenient means of utilizing the dairy supply.

Several stinkweed patches at old hay-stack bottoms are a legacy the writer has been bequeathed by customers hauling their own hay with dirty racks in winter months. These have been consuming polluted feed. The present policy is to sell and deliver.

After the severe frost experienced in most parts of the Grande Prairie district it is a treat to find considerable wheat grading 3 Northern or 3 Tough in the northern part of the Peace Coulee district. Immaturity and green kernels have reduced it somewhat. Some heavy yields are reported.

A pleasing sight between Peace Coulee and Rolla was a large field with the grain stacked in two or three straight rows of threshing sets, four stacks to a set, and all the land plowed except the strips on which the stacks stood.

Half the problem of enduring a cold season is in adapting oneself. Most of the other half is in the mental attitude that resolves to make the best of things. Irvin S. Cobb once described in the Saturday Evening Post a snowstorm in the Southern States that brought more misery to that and least than a blizzard would bring in the North. The people were unprepared for it.

A neat job of chink-stopping a gully with a sawdust-flour composition was observed in the house of Geo. H. Hifferman of Rolla, B.C. Into a bucket of thick flour paste, to which a little salt had been added, enough sawdust was stirred to make a thick dough. This was pressed into the cracks with the hands, a little paste being brushed over it to make it smooth. First-grade flour is required for its high gluten content, but mouse-infested stock can sometimes be purchased at a low price. Filling is more economical of material than trowelling, because a trowel would spread considerable material needlessly down along the face of the underlog.

Notwithstanding the numerous threshing outfits as compared with an earlier day, winter usually catches more or less crop in stock—often the crop of the threshermen themselves. It is more or less a duty to serve as we do upon stock threshing. The economy of labor when all goes well is acknowledged, but what a comfort to have some stacks to pull into when the snow comes? Grades could be sometimes improved, and leanness or toughness often avoided by stacking which cannot be stock-threshed in good season. More fall plowing would often be accomplished and fewer weeds scattered across the fields, for stock teams proper many a new place of land with stinkweed and wild oats.

Testing Cattle for Tuberculosis

What steps should I take in order to have my milk cows tested for tuberculosis and to whom should I write for information?—G.A.W., Glen Alta.

Ans.: Any qualified veterinarian can administer a tuberculin test, but, in addition, the Dominion Department of Agriculture, through its Health of Animals Branch, has three policies of which cattle owners may avail themselves.

(a) First there is the Accredited-Herd Plan, the object of which is the eradication of tuberculosis from purebred herds. Those are tuberculin-tested free of charge by salaried veterinary inspectors, but to be eligible for acceptance under this plan a herd must contain at least five purebred cattle of one breed registered in the applicant's name and the proportion of purebreds must be at least one-third of the total herd. Partial compensation is paid for reactors, all of which must be slaughtered under federal inspection.

(b) The Supervised-Herd Plan is a scheme whereby applicants to grade to the 25th of November, 1936, are required to have their herds inspected by a veterinarian. The plan is a scheme to ensure that the owner receives whatever proceeds there may be from the salvage. Owners placing their herds under this plan must agree to slaughter reactors, to promptly clean and disinfect their premises and to keep their cattle from coming in contact with untreated animals. If a herd size is not maintained on the plowing operations must be restricted to a tested animal.

(c) The Restricted-Area Plan is designed to eradicate bovine tuberculosis in definite areas and depends upon concerted action. Compensation is paid as under the Accredited-Herd Plan. Cattle owners desirous of placing their herds under the Accredited-Herd Plan should make application either direct to the Health of Animals Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, or through its inspectors in the province.

The plans are proving popular inasmuch as at the middle of September there were over 40,000 herds of cattle in Canada receiving attention under the Supervised-Herd Plan and 8,000 under the Accredited-Herd Plan. To say nothing of the million and a half head which had been tested under the Restricted-Area Plan. There was, at that time, according to Dr. A. E. Cameron, the Acting Veterinary Director General, enough work on hand to keep the Branch's officers fully occupied for at least a year.

Bovine tuberculosis is a menace not only to cattle profits but to human health and life. The public's demand for dairy products obtained from healthy herds, and provincial laws to this end, are in force. "In five years," says a pamphlet of the Health of Animals Branch, more than 5,500 head of tuberculous cattle were condemned and destroyed by federal inspectors. Through a system of condemnation and insurance this loss in whole or in part is assumed by producers.

AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITS SHOULD ATTRACT PUBLIC

Apart altogether from spectacular appeal, the Royal Winter Fair as an educational factor cannot be overestimated. Particularly in this time of interest in the economic conditions of the province and the need for the public to know the state of the province's resources, the fair is a most timely and valuable contribution to the public's knowledge of the province's resources.

THE SEED SITUATION IN THE CANADIAN WEST RUST AREA

A serious situation has developed in the rust area with respect to seed supplies for this coming spring. The situation is serious because a great deal of the only seed that will be available for seed in the Canadian West has been badly damaged by rust, to the extent that germination and vitality have been seriously impaired.

Fairly representative samples from some districts show that the germination of seed is seriously impaired. On some districts, the germination is as low as 10 per cent. In some districts, the germination is as low as 10 per cent. In some districts, the germination is as low as 10 per cent.

ern Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba south of the C.P.R. line, which some thought would be forever a Great Canadian Desert, covered splendid prospects for a beautiful crop, indicating that sufficient rainfall occurs. The fertile soil in this area can produce abundant crops. Much of the fine prospective crop, however, was severely damaged by rust, which unfortunately not only substantially decreased the yield but as well lowered the grade of the grain at some points down to the bottom limit.

The following outstanding features, with respect to the varied conditions which prevailed, are worthy of note: (a) That Howard wheat gave a higher yield and better quality under rust conditions than did Marquis, Garret, Red Dove or Ceres, although, of course, Howard, not being a rust-resistant, still suffered somewhat.

(b) That early sown crops suffered less than those which were sown later. (c) That within both the east and west areas the use of fertilizer substantially increased the grade and yield of wheat, oats and barley.

(d) That it seems certain that reasonable security with wheat crops will not be assured in eastern Saskatchewan, nor in the greater part of Manitoba, unless wheat varieties highly resistant to rust, is available to farmers.

(e) That Thatcher wheat (a rust-resistant variety developed in Minnesota) and the new rust-resistant variety now being developed by the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory, Winnipeg, successfully withstood the rust infection, and caused no appreciable damage either in yield or grade.

Indian corn has never been found in a wild state. This may mean either that wild corn was extinct before potatoes could make a record of it, or that the original wild plant is so different from the cultivated form that it is impossible to recognize it. Corn was found growing as far north as the St. Lawrence Valley when the first white explorers arrived in Canada.

BEZANSON NEWS

BEZANSON, Nov. 20.—Winter is here full blast and if you are lucky enough to have your supply of wood hauled and cut, then you just sit down in a comfy armchair and do a little financial figuring on paper. Most of us would find it impossible to do any figuring in real hard cash, and remember every cloud has a silver lining, in this line of hope, that next year will be better. It might be worse, but we doubt it.

Eddie Dewhurst spent a few days with his mother and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dewhurst before hibernating for the winter on his homestead at Sturgeon Heights.

Believe it or not, but the first advance meeting to make ever councillors past, present and future was held during the evening at Mr. Tapp's place. At present we have no information as to the favorite for next election.

MANY BASKETS AT SOCIAL

BIG GANG AT THRESHMEN'S BALL

BEZANSON, Nov. 18.—Well, once again the threshermen's ball has come and gone and as usual it was a very enjoyable time. A large crowd was in attendance and everyone appeared to enjoy themselves to the limit. After lunch the usual impromptu entertainment took place, with some very good tunes were provided by Misses Lewis and Atkins, duettists; Betty Cooney, Highland dancer; John Pettit and Morris Stewart interspersed with our genial floor manager, Wm. Ford, who kept the crowd well supplied with the general light-footed took the floor and hoed it down until four o'clock in the morning when "Home Sweet Home" was called and good-bye was said to the threshermen's ball for another year of hope.

BREITKREUTZ-SCHOEPF

One of the lovely November weddings was that of Mary Schoepf, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Schoepf, to Ernest Breitkreutz, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Breitkreutz, of the Wembley district, at St. John's Lutheran Church, five miles west of Wembley, at 12 o'clock noon on Sunday, November 17. The Rev. E. Wildegrube performed the ceremony, while Carl Schoepf played the wedding music.

The bride looked charming in a white silk dress trimmed with lace, and a bridal veil with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. Miss Bertha Breitkreutz and Miss Elsie Schoepf were bridesmaids, dressed in pale green. Mr. Edward Schoepf and Mr. John Breitkreutz supported the groom.

Following the ceremony the wedding party drove to the home of the groom's father, Mr. E. Breitkreutz, where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served. The dining room was filled with white and blue and white streamers.

The happy couple were the recipients of numerous wedding presents. Assisting in serving the wedding dinner were Mrs. P. Unterchultz, Mrs. G. Gifford, Mrs. Jacob Ulmer, and Mrs. Geo. Schadeck.

This was also the birthday of the groom's mother, Mrs. E. Breitkreutz, and of two dining-tables one was set with a three-course dinner and decorations, while the other was set with a birthday cake and decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Breitkreutz, Jr., will reside on the Wm. Bruce farm.

LYMBURN NEWS

ROMANCE LIVES DESPITE COLD
LYMBURN, Nov. 19.—One would not think this time of year propitious for romance, but we are reading one surprise after another these days which somehow or other prove the "truth" of the words of a certain popular melody. It's June in January because "It's Love."

First of all we were surprised when Mrs. Speckley left us to marry Mr. Miller of Beaver Lodge.

We had just recovered from that when Mr. George Durnford of Alberquerque suddenly produced a bride, who arrived in Hinton from Ontario last Friday, on which day the couple were married.

Hunt on the heels of this event we learn that Mr. Andy Hudlo, who is well known around Lymburn, has married Miss K. Gray.

We wish all these newly married couples heaps of happiness and good luck!

WANDERERS RETURN
We were glad to welcome two of our wanderers home again a short time ago. Miss Mabel Hay arrived back in Lymburn after a month's absence in Grande Prairie, where she was employed by Mrs. Clayton.

Mr. G. Wilton arrived on the same train after having been out to Edmonton, where he had been receiving medical attention. We were all pleased to see him looking so well. While in Edmonton Mr. Wilton visited at Mr. and Mrs. W. Hancock, who are relations of his.

Mr. P. Phillips has had poor health lately, but we hope he may soon be improved.

Miss Mabel Hay has been suffering from a severe cold during the past week, but we are glad to report that she is now feeling much better.

Mrs. Wilton and Mrs. Phillips have been partaking of outdoor sports lately in the form of tobogganing.

Mr. and Mrs. Pollock attended the banquet held in Hinton on Monday.

Mrs. Lettington arrived back in Lymburn on Tuesday's train from Ontario.

The Social Club held a box social and dance last Friday. They plan on having a whist drive and dance on December 6.

Mr. Jack Durnford left last Saturday for Ontario.

DANCE IN HALL, NOVEMBER 19
There is to be a dance in the Lymburn Hall on Friday, November 29. Admission is twenty-five cents for men and better for ladies.

Mrs. M. Rinker returned to Lymburn on Friday's train after a two-month absence.

Mr. Harry Hume has taken up residence in Speckley's old place.

Bill Phillips has been getting busy with his sewing outfit since completion of work at home.

Mr. Barb Cunningham looks quite healthy these days in his new apartment.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL MERCHANDISING

MR. RETAILER: "You have consistently accommodated me on purchases, Mr. Manufacturer, enabling me to supply my customers with the best and latest merchandise, and I have met your terms of payment pretty consistently, too—haven't I?"

MR. MANUFACTURER: "Yes. The relationship has been clean-cut and mutually satisfactory for many years. We appreciate your business and you seem to like our way of dealing. Of course, you know we never could have been as lenient on credit if our own credit were not so good at the Bank of Montreal. The Bank permits us to borrow in substantial amounts during our busy seasons, because we are in good financial shape—have an excellent cash position and a reputation for paying bills and loans promptly."

MR. RETAILER: "That good credit idea is the very foundation of successful merchandising and goes all the way through the business. Our customers are either cash buyers or have good credit. Most of them have sleeping or savings accounts at the Bank and are sure of their ability to pay on our terms before they make purchases on their charge accounts."

ULSTERS FAREWELL TO ONE OF HER GREATEST STATESMEN

All Britain was lashed for two hours on October 26 while her great hero, Lord Carson, was buried in the heart of the land he loved and fought for. Workaday life ceased from the moment that Lord Carson's body was landed from H.M.S. Broke, which brought the mortal remains from Liverpool, and a quarter of a million people lined the streets to pay homage. The picture shows bluejackets drawing the gun-carriage through the crowded streets, while walking beside it on the left is Viscount Craigavon, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, and on the right, Lord Londonderry.

CANADIAN REGIMENT HONORS GREAT GRANDSON OF GENERAL SIMCOE

A unique ceremony took place at Aldershot, England, recently, when Mr. Villoughby Cole, a great grandson of General Simcoe, first commander of the Queen's Rangers, 1st American Regiment, a unit of the Toronto Garrison. As Mr. Cole resides in England the ceremony was conducted by General Bird, Colonel-in-Chief of the Queen's Royal Regiment, to which the Canadian regiment is affiliated, and the 2nd Battalion of the Queen's Royal Regiment was on parade. Mr. Cole was a guest of Toronto during the centennial celebrations in 1934 and the honorary commission was granted him to commemorate the command of General Simcoe of the Queen's Rangers during the American wars of Independence. The pictures show, left, Mr. Cole reviewing the 2nd Battalion during the ceremony, and, right, receiving his appointment from General Bird.

OLD MAN DEPRESSION HELPS NEW INDUSTRY

It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good, and this would seem to be borne out in the case of the busy young industry on the Canadian prairie which was born in the midst of the worst depression in the history of the Dominion. This new industry is manufacturing snowplanes and snowmobiles which are being used extensively in the winter months by the R.C.M.P., doctors and other travellers who must travel over impassable roads. The above picture shows an "assembly line" at Sky Hills, Saskatchewan, where one man manufactured seventeen of these machines last winter and has another 15 ready for the new blizzard season. These machines are propelled by airplane propellers and will cover drifts and even mud stretches without any difficulty.

What One Girl Wore:

By Betty Brownlee

On so many occasions such stress has been laid on the importance of accessories in assembling a costume that it would seem as though there were no more to say. But when the use of accessories actually can add a half dozen different dresses to your wardrobe, that's news and news of great importance to the girl with a limited clothes budget.

A very clever designer has created the idea of a frock of such utter simplicity that by simply changing the accessories the dress will look different every time it is worn. Such a frock is illustrated this week. This one is in a rust-colored crinkly crepe; similar dresses may be in other solid colors.

The lines of the frock are simple, with front fullness of the skirt achieved through the use of gored pieces. It is in the trimming of the dress, however, that the miracles of transformation may be wrought. Those illustrated here are at the neckline and belt and consist of a gold cord run through a jewelled ring.

As you will notice, the opening at the neck is so arranged that it falls in tiny loops. These loops, however, may be turned over, the gold cord and jewelled ring removed and a clip substituted in its place, fastening the loops together and giving an entirely different neckline. The belt is so constructed that the jewelled ring and cord may be easily removed and a buckle in place, to match the clip you use, thus changing the whole effect of the frock.

Also, instead of the present trimming, a flowered cluster at the neckline and belt may be worn, or a plain belt and an Ascot scarf.

House of the Four Winds by John Huthman.

Here again we meet old friends, those we became acquainted with in "Hunting Towers" and "Castle Gay"—Dickson McCann, Jackie, Alison Westwater, Douglas Crombie, John, and other adventurous spirits; also the "enemy" in the shape of Mastrovin and his followers. The story is told from different points to Eviollona, Eviollona, full of the spirit of youth, incorporated in the body of the green, shirred Juvenatus, ardent idealists without a leader, bent on overthrowing the existing government of their country and making all things new.

Naturally, our friends of "Castle Gay" enter into the game, and assisted by Randall Glyndad his Circus Dore, play it well and with dexterity.

After many narrow escapes and exciting happenings, Eviollona is left a happy and united country, with a leader after its own heart.

Lucy Gayheart by Wilma Cather. Unlike "Death Comes to the Arch-bishop," "Lucy Gayheart" is the life story of a young impulsive girl whose heart is set on music. Born and brought up in a little country place, her father a dreamy, impractical but lovable character, and her older sister, Pauline, constitute her family.

Harry Gordon, rich and hard-headed business, but with an undercurrent of poetic sentiment, loves Lucy and means to marry her. In pursuit of a musical career she goes to Chicago and there meets Sebastian. His beautiful voice and artistic personality captivates her imagination and the feeling she has for him amounts to worship.

Herein lies all the joy and sorrow of Lucy's life. A pathetic story, sympathetically written.

PLANS TO TAKE SIGHTSEER TRAIL OVER SCENIC JASPER TRAIL

R. Lenson of Sexsmith, came to see a cooler at The Tribune office on Wednesday.

Mr. Lenson made the trip last summer from Sexsmith to Jasper Park over the Jasper Trail, which he described as wonderful from a scenic angle. Along the way he took many wonderful pictures, which prove his claim as to the scenic beauty of the route.

Mr. Lenson is planning to take sight-seer parties both ways over the Jasper Trail, now that he is familiar with the route.

While at Jasper Park he met two park wardens who formerly lived in the Peace River—Frank Bryant of the Peace River and Matheson of Lake Saskatoon.

Good ice and a solid sheet stretching across the Smoky River afforded the means of crossing in a car last Monday, L. A. Suck of Sturgeon Lake reported when he arrived in Grande Prairie the first day of this week.

GREATEST ROLE FOR KATHARINE HEPBURN IN "LITTLE MINISTER"

Katharine Hepburn is now starred in the most colorful production of her remarkable career, the modern masterpiece, "The Little Minister," which is Metro-Goldwyn's interpretation of Sir James Barrie's immortal story.

It was necessary to construct an entire Scotch village, the town of Thurns—of the Kilmorie, the modern name for the town. A reproduction of the village in its entirety rests quietly in the shadows of the California hills, a work of art on the part of experts on Scottish architecture and design who worked with the studio's scenic experts.

The picture gives many views of the exquisitely intimate village of Thurns, Barrie's birthplace. It is shown in contrast with the famous Rindout Castle, which was built after the style of the old Norman castle, with high ceilings, stone-mullioned and leaded glass windows and huge stone stairways.

In the village are seen the homes of the poor weavers, the town hall, the public square, Rob Dew's blacksmith shop, old Nanny's humble cottage, the name of the Little Minister, the Kirk and the shop, and on a hill-top the old mill and the loom-out scenes where the striking weavers kept a watch each day for the coming of the millers.

Against this background Katharine Hepburn's greatest starring vehicle, Barrie's "The Little Minister," re-creates the quaint charm and events in the village of Thurns with all the moving romance of which Barrie alone is capable—and which Miss Hepburn so ably interprets with her inexhaustible resource of power.

John Boal portrays the Little Minister, and Alan Hale plays Rob Dew, Richard Wallace Directed.

This grand picture will be at the Capitol Theatre, Grande Prairie, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"THE UNFINISHED SYMPHONY"

Little need be said regarding next week's Paramount-British offering at the Capitol Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 28, 29, and 30. It is one of those rare efforts that will live in screen history, a musical feast such as has never before been offered to motion-picture audiences.

The story is a delightfully human one. A poverty-stricken school-

Quintuplets' Cost of Living $1,000 Month

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week "Going on Two," a Pathe picture of the Dionne quintuplets was a very interesting feature at the Capitol Theatre, Grande Prairie, and the following information will undoubtedly be of interest to those who saw the picture and also to many others.

It costs the Dionne quintuplets $1,000 a month to live, but young as they are, the famous five not only earn that sum but a great deal more. This statement is made by Claire Wallace in an article entitled "What's Ahead for the Quints?" in the November 1935 number of Maclean's Magazine, in which she tells not only the present huge earnings of the famous five but also points out what they are likely to earn in the near future.

The article states in part: "If the famous daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dionne had been born as other children, being five, they would have gone on to earn very much as other children. Being five, they are worth a great deal of money, and will be worth more every day they can remain five."

As their health is so important to their money-producing possibilities—if any died or was discovered to be quite normal their pictures would not be in such demand and their earning power would be cut considerably. Being five, they are worth a great deal of money, and will be worth more every day they can remain five."

On Saturday the orchestra will play from 6:45 to 7 o'clock.

The new prices of admission are as follows: Adults, 35 cents; high school, 25 cents; public school, 15 cents; primary class, 10 cents. On November 22 and 23, "Let's Fall in Love" will be shown. Sleight parties from Buffalo, Lake Louise, Tignes, North Saskatchewan, McHenry, Morning View, Mount Star, Creek, Mount Webster, and all outlying districts, are invited to the Grand Theatre at a special price of 25 cents for each adult, and all parties of six and over will have their fare bill paid.

After the show on Friday, November 22, a dance will be staged with a three-piece orchestra in attendance, at the price of 50 cents per couple. It might be stated here that, although the price is being lowered, the quality of the show will be maintained.
